THINK SPRING

SHUCKS! It's parts for daddy's Pontiac

From the Chief

By Scott Shuman

Another year has come and gone. We didn't do too bad. We were in the black which is a good thing. For the new year, there are some new events. Our spring meet is going to coincide with the Performance Years weekend and the GTOAA regional event. With Performance Years, the Susquehanna Valley GTO and Garden State GTO clubs, and us all together, this could become quite an event. There are still rumors of a day of racing at Maple Grove on Sunday, but as of now it's not confirmed.

As for GM on Display, the new date seems to be working out, and sharing the park with the pet show has reduced our cost for the park. That just gives Don Haley more of a challenge for laying out the show field. We have some great ideas for the spring and fall tours that will keep us in the Lehigh valley area and you will hear all the details once they are worked out.

Our membership remains steady with a few new members joining us last year. So again I'll put my plea out there. Lets see some new faces at our shows and events. The help at the shows is always needed and appreciated. And I'm hoping my work schedule allows me to show my face a little more!

2011 FALL TOUR

by Bill Stephenson

Last year's fall tour brought the club to my neck of the woods. New York has some of the best wine in the world and we were about to try some of Seneca Lake's best. Those that made the trip were Marlin and Robin Guigley, Rick and Connie Harding, Jim and Elke Martin, Jeff and Tina Reich, and Merle and Betsy Wright.

The weekend went exactly as planned except there was no steadfast plan and most of the plans that were made got changed for us. I had set things up with Watkins Glen Raceway to drive the track on Sunday; however, due to labor disputes they were no longer offering this option until next race season. We had planned on taking those who came up early (on Friday night) to a really cool Old Italian restaurant but with the flooding we experienced in September the restaurant got flooded out and was not open. Not fazed by this we made alternate plans and we were off.

Everyone chose to arrive on Friday night because of the drive distance, and my wife and I took our guests to Yanuzzi's for a great Italian dinner. Saturday morning, instead of eating breakfast at the planned restaurant most of our guests ate at the hotel since a continental breakfast was included in the price of the room. At 10 am we left for a fun filled day of wine tasting and visiting with friends. It was decided that we would go up the East side of Seneca Lake and visit Wagner wine first. After doing some shopping and tasting we decided to get an early lunch before hitting the rest of the wineries. After lunch we split up, some went antiquing and the rest of us were off, stopping at almost every wine shack down the lake. Fall is the best time of year to travel the wine trail and almost everyone knows it so overcrowding from busses and limousines, long lines and such are the norm. The one plan that did stick was dinner at Castle Grish. Castle Grish has some of the best German food in the area, and again they didn't disappoint. We had a great dinner and discussed what was going to happen on Sunday since all of the plans I had originally made were now scrap. It was decided that some of our guests were going to leave in the morning and the rest of us were going to do some tasting on the West side of the lake.

After seeing the sights of Corning on Saturday night we had a late breakfast wished those that were leaving a safe trip and went on to other wine stops up the lake. My wife and I had to quit early on Sunday afternoon to attend to other plans and we left the last of our guests at the top of Seneca Lake. By the emails I have received everyone had a good time and almost a year's supply of wine with them. I know my wife and I had fun and brought home our fair share of the wine. Maybe in a few years we can do it again.

KSC Junkyard Tour 2011

About 15 guys and one lady met at the Red Lion Café, near Pine Grove Pa. for a fine home style breakfast. We adjourned and took the 10 minute drive to Klingers salvage and used auto parts for a day of discovery and relaxation among the relics. Dean, our host and proprietor of Klingers gave us the ground rules and let us explore. I ran into Bill McIntosh later, and he said he liked the layout and the variety of the stock. Paul Krubitzer and his wife, from the Wilkes Barre area visited with us to see if any “66 GTO/Tempest parts were available. There was one ’67 Tempest 4dr. hardtop that still possessed its OHC 6 cyl. Ed Loos was looking for stuff for his Buick wagon and found two donor cars. There is a shot of him, belly up in the back of the wagon, disassembling. I also stopped and talked with Cheryl and Craig Lorrance from Virginia who hung out with us again. I came across Don Barlup, his grandson, and Merle with his friend as I was perusing a ’64? Chrysler 300 convertible. Don was amazed that no one had removed the grille die-cast cross and emblem. So he did. I grabbed a differential vent tube to replace one I donated to a friend.

Klingers “old car” stock has diminished in recent years, but there are still a few parts to be had there. We need to convince him to disassemble the wall and disperse it into the yard. Another good weather junkyard tour for
